About

Bronson Centre empowers people and communities to live with renewed dignity and hope. Through our affordable offices and facilities, non-profits provide direct services to diverse populations. We foster a positive environment where tenants & patrons can be productive and successful. We are a registered charity whose revenue comes primarily from facilities rentals and occasional one time grants.

Our Objectives

- provide quality space to diverse groups
- support the arts & cultural activities
- keep everything affordable
- maintain & improve our building

“What a welcoming (and affordable!) home for our office... especially for the kids, families, and seniors of our Caribbean and African communities who enjoy so many of our programs and events at Bronson Centre.”

-- Ken Campbell, President,
Jaku Konbit

“For 16 years, Bronson Centre has been a great partner for Yet Keen, a city-wide, Chinese seniors program. The affordable rent has enabled us to continue our services in the heart of Chinatown. Bronson Centre is one of the most popular places Chinese seniors love to visit.”

-- Anna Yip, Program
Coordinator, Yet Keen

What's Happening

Bronson Centre welcomes and celebrates diversity.

We are the go-to resource for ethnic & cultural communities, arts organizations, Indigenous peoples, at-risk youth, women, seniors of various linguistic backgrounds, mental/physical health communities, and more.

The Centre is a popular venue for the performing arts, including numerous fundraisers. Renowned entertainers such as Kathleen Edwards, Billy Talent, Hawksley Workman, and Carly Rae Jepsen have played our stage. We were the proud home of the Canadian Folk Music Awards in 2014.

Bronson Centre's Board of Directors and voting membership are comprised of individuals who have dedicated their lives to Ottawa communities, many with Bronson Centre from day one.

As a revenue-positive social enterprise, Bronson Centre has always operated independent of public funding, only occasionally soliciting capital grants. Our financial model works so well that demand exceeds supply.

Centrally-located with handy access to public transit (including upcoming light rail) and bike paths, Bronson Centre is near the thriving Ottawa neighbourhoods of Centretown, Little Italy, Chinatown, and Lebreton Flats.

Bronson Centre and its facilities are wheel-chair accessible.

Our Reception Hall (Mac Hall)

In addition to a newly-renovated theatre, the Centre houses a reception hall and a communal kitchen. Inviting and well-equipped, these facilities are widely used by tenants and the broader community for meals, gatherings, and worship. Mac Hall now features modern audio-visual systems while the kitchen was recently upgraded with all commercial equipment.

Better Theatre, Broader Use

Our 850-seat theatre is a major asset to local cultural initiatives. Many of our tenants rely on the space to raise funds, celebrate, and deliver valuable support to the communities they serve.

To accommodate a wider range of uses, the theatre was transformed in 2013 into a more versatile facility. We now have a flattened floor in front of the stage, to be used as extra performance space, orchestra pit, additional seating, or dance floor. Renovated green rooms offer performers greater comfort and amenities.

Project architect Angelo Spadola says the theatre's new design "is unique and versatile for Ottawa. Audience and artist can be in one and the same space. It is a very exciting opportunity for Ottawa performers and audiences."

"Having so many like-minded not-for-profits under one roof at the Bronson Centre has proven to be invaluable to providing "one stop supports" to our at-risk client group."

-- Bryonie Baxter, Executive Director, Elizabeth Fry Society

"Thanks to the balanced, flexible and safe environment created by Bronson Centre, our organization has been able to grow and develop important relationships within this community."

-- Erenia Oliver, Founder, Club Casa de los Abuelos
